The best way to protect against measles is to get the measles-mumps-rubella shot (called the MMR shot). Doctors recommend that all children get the MMR shot.

Why should my child get the MMR shot?
The MMR shot:
- Protects your child from measles, a potentially serious disease, as well as mumps and rubella.
- Prevents your child from getting an uncomfortable rash and high fever from measles.
- Keeps your child from missing school or childcare (and keeps you from missing work to care for your sick child).

Is the MMR shot safe?
Yes. The MMR shot is very safe, and it is effective at preventing measles (as well as mumps and rubella). Vaccines, like any medicine, can have side effects. But most children who get the MMR shot have no side effects.

What are the side effects?
Most children do not have any side effects from the shot. The side effects that do occur are usually very mild, such as a fever, rash, soreness or swelling where the shot was given, or temporary pain and stiffness in the joints (mostly in teens and adults). More serious side effects are rare. These may include high fever that could cause a seizure.

Is there a link between the MMR shot and autism?
No. Scientists in the United States and other countries have carefully studied the MMR shot. None has found a link between autism and the MMR shot.

What is measles?
Measles is a serious respiratory disease (in the lungs and breathing tubes) that causes a rash and fever. It is very contagious. In rare cases, it can be deadly.

What are the symptoms of measles?
Measles starts with a fever that can get very high. Some of the other symptoms that may occur are:
- Cough, runny nose, and red eyes
- Rash of tiny, red spots that start at the head and spread to the rest of the body
- Diarrhea
- Ear infection

Doctors recommend that your child get 2 doses of the MMR shot for best protection. Your child will need one dose at each of the following ages:
- 12 through 15 months
- 4 through 6 years

Infants 6 months to 11 months old should have 1 dose of MMR shot before traveling to another country.
Is it serious?

Measles can be dangerous, especially for babies and young children. From 2001-2013, 28% of children younger than 5 years old who had measles had to be treated in the hospital.

For some children, measles can lead to: Pneumonia (a serious lung infection) Lifelong brain damage
• Deafness Death

• How does measles spread?

Measles spreads when a person infected with the measles virus breathes, coughs, or sneezes. It is very contagious. You can catch measles just by being in a room where a person with measles has been, up to 2 hours after that person is gone. And you can catch measles from an infected person even before they have a measles rash. Almost everyone who has not had the MMR shot will get measles if they are exposed to the measles virus.

Where do measles cases in the United States come from?

Every year, unvaccinated U.S. residents get measles while they are abroad and bring the disease into the United States and spread it to others. Measles is common in other parts of the world, including countries in Europe, Asia, the Pacific Islands, and Africa. Worldwide, about 20 million people get measles each year. When people with measles travel into the United States, they can spread the disease to unvaccinated people including children too young to be vaccinated.

How many measles cases are there in the United States each year?

From year to year, measles cases can range from roughly less than 100 to a couple hundred. However, in some years like 2014, there were more measles cases than usual. In 2014, 667 people from 27 states were reported as having measles. Most of these people got measles in the United States after being exposed to someone who got measles while in another country.

Where can I learn more about the MMR shot and my child?

To learn more about the MMR shot, talk to your child’s doctor, call 1-800-CDC-INFO, or visit www.cdc.gov/vaccines/parents.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, American Academy of Family Physicians, and the American Academy of Pediatrics strongly recommend children receive all vaccines according to the recom

2019-20 Schedule Change Procedure

The faculty of Denmark High School is committed to providing courses and programs fitting the needs of all students to the extent that available resources will allow. The yearly class schedule, teacher assignments and classroom budgets are based upon student/parent course selections. Once the master schedule has been established, students are expected to remain committed to their choices and should have a significant justification for a change.

Students wishing to make a change to their schedule for the 2019-20 academic year must fill out the “Schedule Change Request” form, which will require a parent signature for the request to be considered. The form will be available on the Student Services website on August 1st. Schedule change requests will not be accepted via email over the summer. No schedule changes are guaranteed. Students are expected to follow their current schedule until notified and will be notified via school email if the request was approved or denied. Requests will be approved ONLY if the change is deemed necessary and appropriate.

Early College Credit Program

Denmark offers several different opportunities through which high school students are dually enrolled in both high school and college to earn high school and college credit. These programs can make college more affordable for families and introduce students to higher level coursework before immersing themselves in a rigorous college life.

The 2017-19 State of Wisconsin Biennial Budget included new language regarding high school students who take courses for college credit. The budget combines the Course Options and Youth Options programs into a single new program called the Early College Credit Program (ECCP). High school students at public high schools may be permitted to enroll in a UW System institution, or an alternative private/non-profit institution of higher education to take courses to earn high school credit, post-secondary credit or both. Course costs are shared among the school district/private school and the state (and in some cases, the student's family).

Students in grades 9-12 may be eligible to take courses during the fall, spring, or summer semesters. Please work with your high school counselor to see if you are eligible and begin the application process for the Early College Credit Program. Submit your completed form to your school counselor by February 1st for summer semester, March 1st for fall semester or October 1st for spring semester.

Start College Now will allow high school students the opportunity to take college courses at Wisconsin Technical Colleges. The application process is very similar to the Early College Credit Program process and the program formerly known as Youth Options. High school students in good academic standing and who have no record of disciplinary problems may have the opportunity to take college courses at their local technical college.

Please work with your high school counselor to see if you are eligible and to begin the application process for Start College Now. The deadline for applying is February 1st for summer semester, March 1st for the fall semester or October 1st for the spring semester. The school district will then make its determination regarding eligibility and notify you of the decision.

If you have any questions about these programs, please contact your school counselor for more information.
Denmark Community School Application Time

Are you looking for a new way to learn? Do you want to help drive your own education? Is an exploration based, independent approach your learning style? If you answered yes to any of these questions, read on! There is a project-based learning school right here in Denmark! The Denmark Community School is a small, innovative option for students in grades 7-12.

If this sounds like a good fit for you, come and visit us! The Denmark Community School is excited to be hosting school visitations for interested students and parents! We are located upstairs at the Denmark Middle School. Applications are being accepted from February 1 through April 30. If you are interested in this innovative, hands-on approach to learning, read on!!

What makes the Denmark Community School unique? Denmark Community School is a cutting-edge learning community where students actively drive their own education by pursuing their passions. Our students become purposeful adults by integrating creativity, critical thinking, collaboration, and communication into standards-based academic pursuits. Utilizing the latest technology, students participate in both student and teacher led opportunities to put the tools they have available into practice, expanding their minds, and furthering their education.

Interested students and/or parents should contact Denmark Community School staff to set up a shadow. This is an opportunity for students to learn more about the Denmark Community School. Students will have an opportunity to shadow a Community School student and experience what a typical day would be like. Community School students will describe the learning process and some of their projects, and guests will have the opportunity to see a student in action as a project is presented.

All of our students have chosen to attend the Denmark Community School. We hope that interested students will take advantage of this opportunity to visit and will take the time to ask them why. Their answers may change the way they think about learning. Here is a quote from one of them: “I like to think of traditional school as being a blank canvas with a beautiful border, where students are expected to paint the perfect picture within the border. At the Community School, we are able to paint our own picture, with no borders or confines to limit us.”

If you have questions please contact the Denmark Community School at (920) 863-4153, or dupkem@denmark.k12.wi.us We look forward to meeting with interested students and parents to share all of the exciting, student led opportunities available at the Denmark Community School!
Tick Bite: What to Do

Ticks bites can make people sick. Below are some steps that you can take after a tick bite to reduce your chances of getting sick and how to get treatment promptly if you do get sick.

Remove the tick as soon as possible

1. Use fine-tipped tweezers to grasp the tick as close to the skin as you can.
2. Pull upward with steady, even pressure. Don’t twist or jerk the tick.
3. After removing the tick, clean the bite area and your hands with rubbing alcohol or soap and water.
4. Dispose of the tick by flushing it down the toilet. If you would like to bring the tick to your healthcare provider for identification, put it in rubbing alcohol or place it in a sealed bag/container.

Consider calling your healthcare provider

In general, CDC does not recommend taking antibiotics after tick bites to prevent tickborne diseases. However, in certain circumstances, a single dose of doxycycline after a tick bite may lower your risk of Lyme disease. Consider talking to your healthcare provider if you live in an area where Lyme disease is common.

Watch for symptoms for 30 days

Call your healthcare provider if you get any of the following:

- Rash
- Fever
- Fatigue
- Headache
- Muscle pain
- Joint swelling and pain

Treatment for tickborne diseases should be based on symptoms, history of exposure to ticks, and in some cases, blood test results. Most tickborne diseases can be treated with a short course of antibiotics.
Common questions after a tick bite

Should I get my tick tested for germs?
Some companies offer to test ticks for specific germs. CDC strongly discourages using results from these tests when deciding whether to use antibiotics after a tick bite.

- Results may not be reliable. Laboratories that test ticks are not required to meet the same quality standards as laboratories used by clinics or hospitals for patient care.
- Positive results can be misleading. Even if a tick contains a germ, it does not mean that you have been infected by that germ.
- Negative results can also be misleading. You might have been bitten unknowingly by a different infected tick.

Can I get sick from a tick that is crawling on me but has not yet attached?
Ticks must bite you to spread their germs. Once they attach to you, they will feed on your blood and can spread germs. A tick that is crawling on you but not attached or full of blood could not have spread germs. However, if you have found a tick crawling on you, it's a sign there may be others: do a careful tick check.

How long does a tick need to be attached before it can spread infection?
Depending on the type of tick and germ, a tick needs to be attached to you for different amounts of time (minutes to days) to infect you with that germ.

Your risk for Lyme disease is very low if a tick has been attached for fewer than 36 hours. Check for ticks daily and remove them as soon as possible.

Middle and High School Athletic Participation News for 2019-2020

Student athletes who are planning on going out for fall, winter and/or spring sports (including dance) during the 2019-2020 school year, need to complete Impact Testing. The test is a 45-minute computer test that is administered by the athletic trainer as a baseline score. If a student athlete were to show signs or symptoms of a concussion during a sporting event, the information is used to evaluate when the student athlete is able to return to the sport. Impact testing is required for incoming freshmen and juniors or first time high school athletes. Students who are planning to participate in high school sports in fall, winter and/or spring including dance, for the 2019-2020 school year, are required to attend an Impact Testing session. Parents do not need to be present during the testing. Any questions contact the school office at 863-4200 extension 0.
